PROPOSALS FOR PUBLISHING AN
HISTORY OF THE LIFE OF THE ILLUSTRIOUS
GEORGE WASHINGTON,
Commander in Chief of the American Armies during our revolutionary war with Great Britain, first President of the United States, and since, Lieutenant General of the Army.
By JOSEPH SCOTT,
Author of the Modern Geographical Dictionary, in four volumes octavo.
OF the various methods which different writers pursue in order to convey useful knowledge to mankind, Biography stands confessedly among the first. There is none more interesting—none more instructive and entertaining. The histories of distinguished heroes, who have, by their exalted virtues, and noble and splendid actions, been the principal means of redeeming their respective countries from the corroding hand of tyranny, have in all ages been considered the most entertaining, instructive, and important to mankind. They afford example; and example is more powerful than precept. It strengthens, by a plain and easy mode of analogical reasoning, the principles of the timid, determines and fixes those that are wavering, and ultimately lays the basis for that harmony and coincidence of sentiment among the citizens; from which only, a nation can hope to derive rank, consequence and stability.
Impressed with lively sentiments of the eminent virtues of that distinguished HERO and PATRIOT, the history of whose life I have undertaken to write; it was not till after much reflection I resolved on issuing these proposals.—The following considerations induced me to this: First, having obtained in the course of an extensive correspondence, with many gentlemen of talents and information, a large stock of original materials concerning the life of this Illustrious Citizen; to give form and body to these, in the manner of history, will preserve many important things that otherwise would most probably be lost. Secondly, as many of the most interesting transactions of his life, since he resigned his commission as Commander in chief of our revolutionary armies, are very imperfectly recorded, and little understood; yet the greater part of them being fresh in the memories of many, this must be the fittest time to embody them; before a succession of objects, which every day brings forth, wears off the minuter circumstances. There are many of these circumstances important and interesting; as it is universally acknowledged, that great actions, like immense rivers, flow from small beginnings.
CONDITIONS.
I. The Life of General Washington will contain nearly 400 pages octavo, printed on fine paper, and in a style of elegance equal to any work that has appeared from an American press.
II. It will be embellished with a striking likeness of the General, executed by one of the first artists.
III. Subscribers' names will be annexed, as patrons.
IV. Each subscriber is to pay two dollars, one half on subscribing, the remainder on the delivery of the work.
☞ Subscriptions in this city are received at No. 297 Arch street, next door to the north west corner of Eighth street.

The Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA,
TUESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 7.

Funeral Oration,

ON THE
GENERAL WASHINGTON,

Delivered, at the request of Congress, by MAJOR GENERAL HENRY LEE,
M. C. from Virginia.

IN obedience to your* will, I rise your humble organ, with the hope of executing a part of the system of public mourning which you have been pleased to adopt, commemorative of the death of the most illustrious and most beloved personage this country has ever produced; and which, while it transmits to posterity your sense of the awful event, faintly represents your knowledge of the consummate excellence you so cordially honor.

Desperate indeed is any attempt on earth to meet correspondently this dispensation of Heaven; for, while with pious resignation we submit to the will of an all gracious Providence, we can never cease lamenting in our finite view of Omnipotent Wisdom, the heart-rending privation for which our nation weeps. When the civilized world shakes to its centre; when every moment gives birth to strange and momentous changes; when our peaceful quarter of the globe, exempt as it happily has been from any share in the slaughter of the human race, may yet be compelled to abandon her pacific policy, and to risk the doleful casualties of war: What limit is there to the extent of our loss?—None within the reach of my words to express; none which your feelings will not disavow.

The founder of our fœderate republic—our bulwark in war, our guide in peace, is no more. Oh that this was but questionable! Hope, the comforter of the wretched, would pour into our agonized hearts its balmy dew. But, alas! there is no hope for us; our Washington is removed forever. Possessing the stoutest frame, and purest mind, he had passed nearly to his sixty-eighth year, in the enjoyment of high health, when, habituated by his care of us to neglect himself, a slight cold, disregarded became inconvenient on Friday, oppressive on Saturday, and defying every medical interposition, before the morning of Sunday, put an end to the best of men. An end did I say—his fame survives! bounded only by the limits of the earth, and by the extent of the human mind. He survives in our hearts, in the growing knowledge of our children, in the affection of the good throughout the world; and when our monuments shall be done away; when nations now existing shall be no more; when even our young and far-spreading empire shall have perished, still will our Washington's glory unfaded shine, and die not, until love of virtue cease on earth, or earth itself sinks into chaos.

How, my fellow-citizens, shall I single to your grateful hearts his pre-eminent worth! Where shall I begin in opening to your view a character throughout sublime: Shall I speak of his warlike atchievements, all springing from obedience to his country's will—all directed to his country's good?

Will you go with me to the Banks of the Monongahela, to see your youthful Washington, supporting, in the dismal hour of Indian victory, the ill-fated Braddock, and saving, by his judgment and by his valour, the remains of a defeated army, pressed by the conquering savage foe? Or, when oppressed America, nobly resolving to risk her all in defence of her violated rights, he was elevated by the unanimous voice of Congress to the command of her armies: Will you follow him to the high-grounds of Boston where to an undisciplined, courageous and virtuous yeomanry, his presence gave the stability of system, and infused the invincibility of love of country: or shall I carry you to the painful scenes of Long-Island, York-Island and New-Jersey, when combating superior and gallant armies, aided by powerful fleets, and led by chiefs high in the roll of fame, he stood the bulwark of our safety; undismayed by disaster; unchanged by change of fortune. Or will you view him in the precarious fields of Trenton, where deep gloom unnerving every arm, reigned triumphant through our thinned, worn down, unaided ranks: himself unmoved.—Dreadful was the night; it was about this time of winter—The storm raged—the Delaware rolling furiously with floating ice, forbad the approach of man. Washington, self collected, viewed the tremendous scene—his country called; unappall'd by surrounding dangers, he passed to the hostile shore: he fought; he conquered. The morning sun cheered the American world. Our country rose on the event; and her dauntless Chief pursuing his blow, completed in the lawns of Princeton, what his vast soul had conceived on the shores of Delaware.

Thence to the strong grounds of Morris-Town he led his small but gallant band; and through an eventful winter, by the high efforts of his genius, whose matchless force was measurable only by the growth of difficulties, he held in check formidable hostile legions, conducted by a Chief experienced in the art of war, and famed for his valour on the ever-memorable heights of Abraham, where fell Wolfe, Montcalm, and since our much lamented Montgomery; all covered with glory. In this fortunate interval, produced by his masterly conduct, our fathers, ourselves, animated by his resistless example, rallied around our country's standard, and continued to follow her beloved Chief through the various and trying scenes to which the destinies of our union led.

Who is there that has forgotten the vales of Brandywine—the fields of Germantown, or the plains of Monmouth; every where present, wants of every kind obstructing, numerous and valiant armies encountering, himself a host, he assuaged our sufferings, limited our privations, and upheld our tottering republic. Shall I display to you the spread of the fire of his soul, by rehearsing the praises of the hero of Saratoga, and his much lov'd compeer of the Carolinas? No; our Washington wears not borrowed glory: To Gates—to Green, he gave without reserve the applause due to their eminent merit; and long may the Chiefs of Saratoga, and of Eutaws, receive the grateful respect of a grateful people.

Moving in his own orbit, he imparted heat and light to his most distant satellites; and combining the physical and moral force of all within his sphere, with irresistible weight he took his course, commiserating folly, disdaining vice, dismaying treason and invigorating despondency, until the auspicious hour arrived, when, united with the intrepid forces of a potent and magnanimous ally, he brought to submission the since conqueror of India; thus finishing his long career of military glory with a lustre corresponding to his great name, and in this his last act of war affixing the seal of fate to our nation's birth.

To the horrid din of battle sweet peace succeeded, and our virtuous chief, mindful only of the common good, in a moment tempting person aggraudizement, hushed the discontents of growing sedition, and surrendering his power into the hands from which he had received it, converted his sword into a ploughshare, teaching an admiring world that to be truly great, you must be truly good.

Was I to stop here, the picture would be incomplete, and the task imposed unfinished—Great as was our Washington in war, and as much as did that greatness contribute to produce the American Republic, it is not in war alone his pre-eminence stands conspicuous: his various talents combining all the capacities of a statesman with those of a soldier, fitted him alike to guide the councils and the armies of our nation. Scarcely had he rested from his martial toils, while his invaluable parental advice was still sounding in our ears, when he who had been our shield and our sword, was called forth to act a less splendid but more important part.

Possessing a clear and a penetrating mind, a strong and a sound judgment, calmness and temper for deliberation, with invincible firmness and perseverance in resolutions maturely formed, drawing information from all, acting from himself, with incorruptible integrity and unvarying patriotism: his own superiority and the public confidence alike marked him as the man designed by heaven to lead in the great political as well as military events which have distinguished the æra of his life.

The finger of an overruling Providence, pointing at Washington, was neither mistaken nor unobserved; when to realise the vast hopes to which our revolution had given birth, a change of political system became indispensable.

How novel, how grand the spectacle! Independent states stretched over an immense territory, and known only by common difficulty, clinging to their union as the rock of their safety, deciding by frank comparison of their relative condition, to rear on that rock, under the guidance of reason, a common government through whose commanding protection, liberty and order, with their long train of blessings should be safe to themselves, and the sure inheritance of their posterity.

This arduous task devolved on citizens selected by the people, from knowledge of their wisdom and confidence in their virtue. In this august assembly of sages and of patriots, Washington of course was found—and, as if acknowledged to be most wise, where all were wise, with one voice he was declared their chief. How well he merited this rare distinction, how faithful were the labors of himself and his compatriots, the work of their hands and our union, strength and prosperity, the fruits of that work, best attest.

But to have essentially aided in presenting to his country this consummation of her hopes, neither satisfied the claims of his fellow-citizens on his talents, nor those duties which the possession of those talents imposed. Heaven had not infused into his mind such an uncommon share of its ætherial spirit to remain unemployed, nor bestowed on him his genius unaccompied with the corresponding duty of devoting it to the common good. To have framed a constitution, was shewing only, without realizing the general happiness. This great work remained to be done, and America, stedfast in her preference, with one voice summoned her beloved Washington, unpractised as he was in the duties of civil administration, to execute this last act in the completion of the national felicity. Obedient to her call, he assumed the high office with that self-distrust peculiar to his innate modesty, the constant attendant of of pre-eminent virtue. What was the burst of joy through our anxious land on this exhilerating event is known to us all. The aged, the young, the brave, the fair, rivalled each other in demonstrations of their gratitude; and this high wrought, delightful scene was heightened in its effect, by the singular contest between the zeal of the bestowers and the avoidance of the receiver of the honors bestowed. Commencing his administration, what heart is not charmed with the recollection of the pure and wise principles announced by himself, as the basis of his political life. He best understood the indissoluble union between virtue and happiness, between duty and advantage, between the genuine maxims of an honeſt and magnanimous policy, and the ſolid rewards of public proſperity and individual felicity; watching with an equal and comprehenſive eye over this great aſſemblage of communities and intereſts, he laid the foundations of our national policy in the unerring, immutable principles of morality, baſed on religion, exemplifying the pre-eminence of free government, by all the attributes which win the affections of its citizens or command the reſpect of the world.

* The two Houses of Congress.

"O fortunatos nimium, ſua ſi bona norint!"

Leading through the complicated difficulties produced by previous obligations and conflicting intereſts, ſeconded by ſuccedding houſes of Congreſs, enlightened and patriotic, he ſurmounted all original obſtruction, and brightened the path of our national felicity.

The Preſidential term expiring, his ſolicitude to exchange exaltation for humility returned, with a force encreaſed with increaſe of age, and he had prepared his farewell addreſs to his countrymen, proclaiming his intention, when the united interpoſition of all around him, enforced by the eventful proſpects of the epoch, produced a further ſacrifice of inclination to duty. The election of Preſident followed, and Waſhington, by the unanimous vote of the nation, was called to reſume the chief magiſtracy: what a wonderful fixure of confidence! Which attracts moſt our admiration, a people ſo correct, or a citizen combining an aſſemblage of talents forbidding rivalry, and ſtifling even envy itſelf? Such a nation ought to be happy, ſuch a chief muſt be forever revered.

War, long menaced by the Indian tribes, now broke out; and the terrible conflict deluging Europe with blood, began to ſhed its baneful influence over our happy land. To the firſt, outſtretching his invincible arm, under the orders of the gallant Wayne, the American Eagle ſoared triumphant through diſtant foreſts. Peace followed victory, and the melioration of the condition of the enemy followed peace. Godlike virtue which uplifts even the ſubdued ſavage.

To the ſecond he oppoſed himſelf. New and delicate was the conjuncture, and great was the ſtake.—Soon did his penetrating mind diſcern and ſeize the only courſe, continuing to us all the felicity enjoyed. He iſſued his proclamation of neutrality. This index to his whole ſubſequent conduct, was ſanctioned by the approbation of both houſes of Congreſs, and by the approving voice of the people.

To this ſublime policy he inviolably adhered, unmoved by foreign intruſion, unſhaken by domeſtic turbulence.

"Juſtum et tenacem propoſiti virum,
"Non civium ardor prava jubentium,
"Non vultus inſtanti tyranni,
"Mente quatit ſolida."

Maintaining his pacific ſyſtem at the expence of no duty, America faithful to herſelf and unſtained in her honor, continued to enjoy the delights of peace, while afflicted Europe mourns in every quarter, under the accumulated miſeries of an unexampled war; miſeries in which our happy country muſt have ſhared, had not our pre-eminent Waſhington been as firm in council as he was brave in the field.

Purſuing ſtedfaſtly his courſe, he held ſafe the public happineſs, preventing foreign war, and quelling internal diſcord, till the revolving period of a third election approached, when he executed his interrupted but inextinguiſhable deſire of returning to the humble walks of private life.

The promulgation of his fixed reſolution, ſtopped the anxious wiſhes of an affectionate people, from adding a third unanimous teſtimonial of their unabated confidence in the man ſo long enthroned in their hearts. When, before, was affection like this exhibited on earth?—Turn over the records of antient Greece—Review the annals of mighty Rome,—Examine the volumes of modern Europe; you ſearch in vain. America and her Waſhington only afford the dignified exemplification.

The illuſtrious perſonage called by the national voice in ſucceſſion to the arduous office of guiding a free people, had new difficulties to encounter: the amicable effort of ſettling our difficulties with France, begun by Waſhington, and purſued by his ſucceſſor in virtue as in ſtation, proving abortive, America took meaſures of ſelf-defence. No ſooner was the public mind roufed by proſpect of danger, than every eye was turned to the friend of all, though ſecluded from public view, and grey in public ſervice: the virtuous veteran, following his plough*, received the unexpected ſummons with mingled emotions of indignation at the unmerited ill-treatment of his country, and of a determination once more to riſk his all in her defence.

The annunciation of theſe feelings, in his affecting letter to the Preſident accepting the command of the army, concludes his official conduct.

Firſt in war—firſt in peace—and firſt in the hearts of his countrymen, he was ſecond to none in the humble and endearing ſcenes of private life; pious, juſt, humane, temperate and ſincere; uniform, dignified and commanding, his example was as edifying to all around him, as were the effects of that example laſting.

To his equals he was condeſcending, to his inferiors kind, and to the dear object of his affections exemplarily tender: correct throughout, vice ſhuddered in his preſence, and virtue always felt his foſtering hand; the purity of his private character gave effulgence to his public virtues.

His laſt ſcene comported with the whole tenor of his life.—Although in extreme pain, not a ſigh, not a groan eſcaped him; and with undiſturbed ſerenity he cloſed his well ſpent life.—Such was the man America has loſt—Such was the man for whom our nation mourns.

Methinks I ſee his auguſt image, and hear falling from his venerable lips theſe deep ſinking words:

"CEASE, Sons of America, lamenting our ſeparation: go on, and confirm by your wiſdom the fruits of our joint councils, joint efforts, and common dangers: Reverence religion, diffuſe knowledge throughout your land, patronize the arts and ſciences; let Liberty and Order be inſeparable companions, controul party ſpirit, the bane of free government; obſerve good faith to, and cultivate peace with all nations, ſhut up every avenue to foreign influence, contract rather than extend national connexion, rely on yourſelves only: Be American in thought, and deed—Thus will you give immortality to that union, which was the conſtant object of my terreſtrial labours; thus will you preſerve undiſturbed to the lateſt poſterity, the felicity of a people to me moſt dear, and thus will you ſupply (if my happineſs is now aught to you) the only vacancy in the round of pure bliſs high Heaven beſtows."

*General Waſhington, though opulent, gave much of his time and attention to practical agriculture.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, January 6.

Mr. D. Foſter, from the Committee of Claims, reported a bill for the relief of John Vaughan, which was read a firſt and ſecond time, and committed to a committee of the whole houſe to-morrow.

The Houſe took up the conſideration of the report of the Committee of Claims, on the petition of Nathaniel Libin, and concurred in the ſame.

On motion of Mr. Claiborne, the houſe proceeded to the conſideration of the report of the committee of the whole houſe, (poſtponed on Friday laſt to this day) on the bill for the preſervation of peace with the Indian tribes, and concurred therein—Whereupon it was Ordered. That the ſaid bill be engroſſed and read a third time to-morrow.

Mr. Thatcher preſented a petition of a number of merchants, inhabitants of the town of Berwick, in the diſtrict of Maine, (Maſſ.) praying that ſaid town may be annexed to the diſtrict of Portſmouth, as a Port of Entry—which was read and referred to the committee of Commerce and Manufactures.

Mr. Harriſon called for the order of the day on the bill to reform the Superior court of the Territory, N. W. of the river Ohio.

Mr. Davis moved that the further conſideration of this bill be poſtponed till Monday next. He would propoſe, if this motion was agreed to, the adoption of a reſolution (which would ſupercede the neceſſity of paſſing this bill at all) whereby the ſtates of Teneſſee, Kentucky, and the territory N. W. of the Ohio, ſhould be erected into one diſtrict, for the purpoſe of eſtabliſhing a Circuit Court.

Mr. Harriſon ſpoke againſt the poſtponement, and Mr. Claiborne and Mr. Bird, in favour of it, when the queſtion was put and agreed to.

Mr. Davis then moved the following reſolution, which was adopted by the houſe.

Reſolved, That a committee be appointed to prepare and bring in a bill to eſtabliſh a Circuit Court in the States of Tenneſſee, Kentucky, and the territory N. W. of the river Ohio.

Mr. Gallatin moved that this reſolution be referred to the committee appointed to conſider and report on that part of the Preſident's Speech, made at the commencement of the preſent ſeſſion, which relates to a reviſion of the Judiciary ſyſtem—Agreed.

Mr. Nicholſon preſented a petition of ſundry inhabitants of Caroline county, in the ſtate of Maryland, praying for an alteration in the law eſtabliſhing a poſt-office and poſt roads—which was read and referred to the committee appointed to conſider and report on that ſubject.

Mr. Waln moved that the petition of Robert Pettit, which he preſented a few days ſince, be referred to the Committee of Claims; but on ſuggeſtion of Mr. D. Foſter, that it would be more proper to refer it to the Secretary of the Treaſury, in the firſt inſtance, who would be able to give complete information as to the facts, the papers to aſcertain which were now on file in his office—Mr. Waln withdrew his motion for the preſent.

Mr. Bayard, from the committee appointed to conſider the expediency of adopting an uniform ſyſtem of bankruptcy; reported a bill intituled "An act to eſtabliſh an uniform ſyſtem of bankruptcy throughout the United States;" which was read a firſt and ſecond time, and committed to a committee of the whole Houſe on Monday next, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Griſwold called up for conſideration the report of the committee of reviſal and unfiniſhed buſineſs on the bill for mitigating or remitting fines, forfeitures and penalties in certain caſes, which having been read, was concurred in by the Houſe, and the committee ordered to bring in a bill to repeal ſo much of the ſaid act as limits its duration to the expiration of the preſent ſeſſion.

Mr. Harper ſaid, he had been inſtructed by the committee of Ways and Means, to move that the Houſe do come to the following reſolution, viz.

Reſolved, That the Committee of Ways and Means have leave to bring in a bill for conſolidating into one act, and for amending the ſeveral acts, laying duties on ſpirits diſtilled in the United States, and on ſtills uſed within the ſame.

Mr. H. ſaid the committee had it in view to amend the whole of the laws on this ſubject; but that whatever alteration or amendment might be agreed upon by them, would be ſpecifically ſtated to the Houſe in diſtinct propoſitions. It was only now intended by the committee to aboliſh the office of inſpector in the ſeveral diſtricts of the different ſtates, and to ſubſtitute that of ſupervifor, wherever a ſuperintendance may be found neceſſary; which alteration, it had been conceived would facilitate the operation of the law, by enabling the Secretary of the Treaſury to receive that direct information which was indiſpenſably neceſſary. Another object at preſent contemplated, was, to fix the compenſation of theſe officers, not as at preſent by per centage, but by ſtated ſalaries. In ſome diſtricts, Mr. H. ſaid, the per centage allowed on the duties had been found too ſmall, and in others much too large. He wiſhed theſe officers, therefore, to have a fixed ſalary.

The queſtion on agreeing to the reſolution was put and carried.

Mr. Harper alſo moved a reſolution for amending the act laying duties on ſtamped vellum, parchment and paper, ſo as to aboliſh the offices thereby eſtabliſhed for the diſtribution of the ſame in the ſeveral ſtates, and directing the eſtabliſhment of one general office for that purpoſe at the ſeat of government, which was read and committed to a committee of the whole Houſe on Wedneſday.

A meſſage was received from the Preſident of the United States, informing the Houſe that he had approved and ſigned the reſolution recommending to the people of the United States, to aſſemble on the 22d February next, for the purpoſe of paying ſuitable honours to the memory of General George Waſhington.—Adjourned.

A COMPENDIOUS SYSTEM

Of Practical Surveying and dividing of land; briefly comprized under the following heads, viz.

TWENTY THREE Geometrical Definitions, eleven Geometrical Positions, exhibiting to view the properties and dependencies of triangles; followed by problems and examples preparatory to Trigonometry, heights and diſtances. Then ſixteen problems and examples neceſſarily previous to calculating a Survey ſucceeded by ſeven ſurveys; the area of the four firſt is found geometrically, and of the whole number by difference of latitude and departure, ſhewing how to take an inacceſſible boundary, find the bearing and diſtance of the cloſing line without running it, alſo the diſtances to an inacceſſible corner from the two adjacent corners, followed by examples of offſets on to winding ſtreams of water, ſhewing how to aſcertain the area without the trouble of meaſuring the windings with chains and inſtruments—a crooked water courſe ſtraitened, and a quantity of land on each ſide found by theſe offſets.

Ten examples of dividing land, with many ſub diviſions, leading into the moſt critical circumſtances that can occur in practice; an example of Interſections, and an example ſhewing how the bearings of a field may be truly taken where the needle is attracted, altho' the attraction may vary in quantity and denomination at every ſtation; examples ſhewing the method of meaſuring by the chain only. All the rules are clear and explicit. This work contains the tables of difference of latitude and departure and of logarithms.

Orders ſent to Joſeph and James Cruckſhank, Bookſellers, No. 87, High ſtreet, Philadelphia, Bonſall and Niles, 173, Market Street, Baltimore, or the Subſcriber in Wilmington (Del.) will be duly attended to.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE time being fixed on, when the MILITARY LAND (commonly called Knox's) WARRANTS, granted to the United States' army, are to be regiſtered and located,—the ſubſcribers have explored that tract of land on which thoſe warrants are to be laid; with a view, and for the purpoſe of offering their ſervices as locaters.

We take the liberty of ſuggeſting, "that weare at leaſt as well acquainted with the ſituation, quality of the ſoil, &c. of the different townſhips in the aforeſaid tract, as any other perſon:" this will, perhaps, appear more clearly, by obſerving, that WILLIAM C. SCHENK aſſiſted in running the Indian boundary line; at which time he conſiderably traverſed that tract: he alſo aſſiſted in ſurveying and laying it off into townſhips, and at other times ranged over it, to gain information. But to obtain a more complete and accurate knowledge, we have lately ſpent between two and three months, with ſeveral aſſiſtants, in particularly examining the different townſhips and quarter townſhips; by which means we have acquired an accurate knowledge of the whole diſtrict.—We now offer our ſervices to the public, as Locaters, with aſſurances that we will locate every perſons warrants intruſted to us to the beſt advantage, agreeably to their rights of location, which is to be determined according to law. For our ſervices we demand the one equal tenth part, either in lands or warrants, when we locate a full tract, of four thouſand acres or more, for one perſon or firm; the land to be taken in a ſquare, at a corner of the tract; which corner is to be equitably determined before the time of location.—The one equal ſixth part, in caſh or warrants, when we connect and locate any amount leſs than four thouſand acres. We will be in Philadelphia from December next, until after the time of location, to tranſact this buſineſs. Any perſon wiſhing to ſatisfy himſelf farther, will pleaſe to call on us, by letter, (poſtage paid) or otherwiſe; when due attention will be paid, and ſuch vouchers may be ſeen as we have to offer, which we hope will be ſatisfactory.

SCHUYLKILL

PERMANENT BRIDGE.

For the information of the Stockholders in the company, incorporated for the erection of a Permanent Bridge over the river Schuylkill, and others of our fellow citizens who are deſirous that this uſeful undertaking ſhould ſucceed, it is thought expedient and proper, by the Preſident and Directors of that company to ſtate the preſent ſituation of its affairs.

THE company was incorporated on the 27th day of April, 1798; and by a clauſe in the law authorizing this incorporation, the legiſlature may reſume the rights, &c. granted to the company, if they do not "proceed to carry on the work" in two years, and complete the bridge in five years, after they had been incorporated.

As ſoon as practicable, the company proceeded to the choice of the officers required by law; and the Preſident and Directors have been conſtant in their endeavours to encreaſe the number of ſubſcribers to the ſtock. The number of ſhares ſubſcribed when the company was organized, was 5216 With all the exertions made ſince, it is now only 5638; though of the 15,000 contemplated by law, 12,000 (at ten dollars each) are allotted for the active capital of the company.

As the public opinion, coinciding with that of the Preſident and Directors, appeared to be fixed on the ſcite at the weſt end of Market ſtreet, it was deemed a primary object to obtain from the corporation of the city, their right to the ferry at that place. Negociations were accordingly commenced for the purpoſe.—Theſe ended in a contract with the city corporation, to the following effect—

1. 5000 dollars to be paid to the city corporation when the ſubſcriptions to the bridge ſtock amount to the value of 11,000 ſhares—a like ſum in four months thereafter with intereſt—5000 dollars further in eight months—and the like ſum in twelve months, with intereſt.

2. The city corporation take, as payment for 20,000 dollars, (to make the whole conſideration monies 40,000 dollars) two thouſand ſhares in the bridge ſtock, on terms detailed in the contract.

3. The 11,000 ſhares being ſubſcribed, and the firſt inſtalmene of the purchaſe monies paid, the right to the ferry and its enumerated appurtenances, with certain parts of the ſcite and the brick tavern, to be conveyed to the bridge company, on their mortgaging the premiſes, in the contract mentioned, for 15,000 dollars, the reſidue of the pecuniary payments, with intereſt.

4 If the erection is not completed in the period fixed, or which may be fixed by the legiſlature, the property and rights are to re veſt in the corporation of the city, on terms preſcribed in the contract; which contains other ſubordinate arrangements, too lengthy to be herein particularly detailed.

The ſum agreed to be given was unavoidable. We found the councils of the city inflexibly determined not to take leſs. We deemed it eligible to make ſome ſacrifices (if any we have made) to avoid competitions injurious and embarraſſing, both in the commencement and progreſs of our intended enterprize.

Warned by experience of the fatal conſequences of beginning works, requiring extenſive pecuniary ſuppart, without a certainty of its being within our power, we agreed to that part of the contract requiring 11,000 ſhares to be actually ſubſcribed, before it takes effect.—We do not deſire to conceal our indiſpoſition to embark in this undertaking, until the number of ſhares ſubſcribed ſhall, at leaſt, equal that required by this contract. Nor ſhall we engage in the buſineſs until the inſtalments directed by law ſhall be in the treaſurer's hands, to an amount ſufficient to encourage us to begin the work, with ſolid proſpects of complying with our engagements to thoſe with whom we may contract.

We have received a number of plans in conſequence of our advertiſement for the purpoſe, but have made no ſelection. We ſhall prefer that which unites œconomy with ſtability, and accommodation to all circumſtances attached to the place of erection. The ſcite muſt be fixed before the plan is adopted It muſt be perceived that a deficiency of ſubſcriptions to our ſtock prevents our obtaining the ſcite proviſionally contracted for, which, however expenſive it may appear, is certainly the moſt eligible and productive.

We have not called for the ſecond inſtalment, from thoſe who have already ſubſcribed, becauſe we do not think ourſelves warranted, from preſent appearances, to commence the work. The monies already paid (one dollar on each ſhare ſubſcribed, deducting our neceſſary expenditures, which will appear in our accounts) lie uſeleſs to us in the bank. They muſt remain inactive, till by further ſubſcriptions, we are enabled to proceed in the execution of our truſt; as we have no authority to employ them for any other purpoſes, than thoſe directed by the act of incorporation. Our minutes and accounts will be laid before the ſtockholders, at the next meeting for the annual election of officers. They are always open for the inſpection of the members of the company.

All the books and forms required for the progreſs of the buſineſs are prepared; and we are otherwiſe compleatly ready to proceed, if the moſt eſſential requiſite were in our poſſeſſion. It will be ſeen that there is a deficiency of 5362 ſhares to give validity to our contract with the city corporation, and to juſtify us in commencing the work

We have a ſtrong perſuaſion, founded on accurate information of the product of bridges in other ſtates, and calculations of profit here, that inveſtments in our ſtock will be equal, in point of emolument, with thoſe made in any other permanent funds in this city. The company may divide, in biennial dividends, 15 per cent. annually during twenty five years; and if the bridge be made free, they are to receive its value on a fair eſtimate—The Charles River Bridge near Boſton (1500 feet long and 42 wide) coſt 50,000 dollars, and yields from 20 to 24 per cent clear of all expences. The bridge at Cambridge (7000 feet long and 42 wide) coſt 80,000 dollars; and yields from 12 to 14 per cent. Some deductions have been made, to remedy defects in the timber originally uſed, but theſe expences will no longer be neceſſary. Immenſe bodies of ice aſſail theſe bridges without injury—Neither of them are better ſituated to command toll, than that we contemplate over the Schuylkill, which is only 400 feet wide.

Whether we ſhall proceed or not, depends on the diſpoſition of our fellow citizens to encourage the undertaking. We cannot help ſoftering the flattering expectation, that, from motives of public ſpirit and private emolument, we ſhall yet be ſupported in our ardent wiſhes to complete an erection, eminently promotive of the intereſts, as well as the credit of our city.

The ſock being in itſelf inviting, and the object of great public utility, as well to ourſelves as to our poſterity, we more confidently ſolicit ſubſcriptions.

By order,

RICHARD PETERS,

President.

The Swift-Sure,

A NEW LINE OF STAGES,

NOW RUNNING BETWEEN

PHILADELPHIA & NEW-YORK,

By the ſhort and pleaſant road of Buſſleton, Newtown, Scotch Plains, Springfield and Newark.

THE excellence of this road, the populouſneſs of the country through which it paſſes, with ſundry other advantages, which render it ſo far preferable to the Old Road through Briſtol, Brunſwick, &c. long ago ſuggeſted the propriety of its becoming the Grand Thorough-Fare from Philadelphia to New York. During the preſent year, a minute ſurvey of it has been taken, and its ſuperiority over the Old Road, both in winter and ſummer, has been clearly aſcertained.—There are good bridges over all the other waters but the Delaware, and here the croſſing is performed with great ſafety and in leſs than half the time required at the Trenton Ferry. The road is ſeveral miles ſhorter than the old road, but this is among the leaſt of its advantages, becauſe daily experience proves to us, that diſpatch as well as comfort in traveling principally depend on the goodneſs of the road and the levelneſs of the country, and, in theſe reſpects, the New Road is, beyond all compariſon, the beſt. It preſents none of thoſe rocky hills, which render the Old Road ſo fatiguing between the Delaware and Newark. The ſoil, too, for the greater part, is ſuch as to produce but little mud in winter, and very little duſt in ſummer, which circumſtance, added to the beauty of the country, and a conſiderable proportion of ſhade, muſt always render travelling in the latter ſeaſon peculiarly agreeable.

The Swift Sure ſtarts from PHILADELPHIA, at 6 o'clock every morning (Sundays excepted) from the GREEN TREE, oppoſite the Lutheran Church, North Fourth ſtreet. It goes through Frankford to Buſtleton, where it ſtops to Breakfaſt; from Buſtletown it goes through Newtown to Penny-town to dinner; from Penny-town through Hopewell, Millſtone, Bound brook, Quibbletown and Plainfield to Scotch Plains to lodge. The next morning it ſtops at Springfield to breakfaſt, from whence it goes through Newark and arrives at New-York at noon.

From NEW-YORK it ſtarts at 3 o'clock in the afternoon (from Paulus Hook) and arrives at Philadelphia the next evening. For ſeats at New-York, application may be made to Edward Bardin, Old Coffee houſe, to A. Mathieu, corner of Naſſau and John ſtreets, to B. Many, no. 48, Courtlandt, corner of Greenwich ſtreet, and to Michael Little, at his hotel, no. 42, Broad ſtreet.

Fare for paſſengers, Five Dollars.
Way paſſengers 6 Cents per Mile.

Each paſſenger is allowed to take on 14lbs. of baggage carriage free; but all other baggage, taken on by a paſſenger, will be charged at 4 cents per pound weight.

With reſpect to packages ſent on without paſſengers, the proprietors preſume they have adopted a regulation, which, though unknown to other lines of ſtages, they think muſt meet with general approbation, They pledge themſelves to make good every package on the following conditions. The perſon who delivers the package at the office ſhall ſee it entered in the ſtage-book, for which entry he ſhall pay 6 cents; he will then ſtate the value of the package, and pay (excluſive of the carriage) one per cent. on the value, as inſurance, and for which he will receive a receipt. Thus, for inſtance, if he eſtimates his package at one dollar, he will pay one cent, and if at one hundred dollars, he will pay one dollar inſurance, and in like proportion for packages of any other value.

Very few perſons it is preſumed, will diſlike this regulation; it will however, be optionable with every one to avail himſelf of this ſecurity or not. But the proprietors think it right to ſtate very explicitly, that they will be reſponſible for the ſafe delivery of no package, which is not regularly entered, and for which an inſurance receipt cannot be produced.

In the diſtribution of the route, the greateſt care has bren taken to fix on ſuch places and taverns as always afford a good accommodation and entertainment for the paſſengers at the moſt reaſonable rates The ſtages are well equipped furniſhed with fleet and ſteady horſes, and committed to the care of intelligent ſober and obliging drivers. The proprietors themſelves live at the different towns and villages where the ſtages will ſtop, ſo that the conduct of the perſons they employ is continually an object of their attention—They take care alſo to ſee that the paſſengers are well provided for and politely treated at the taverns, and that no ſort of chicanery or inſolence is practiſed upon them; in ſhort, they have ſpared neither pains nor expence to render the SWIFT-SURE the very beſt line of ſtages in America.

The line has now run nearly a month, during which time a great number of gentlemen have gone through, both from Philadelphia and New-York. Every paſſenger has found the road to ſurpaſs very far all that has been ſaid of its excellence; and the Proprietors of the Swift Sure are extremely happy to hear the behaviou of their drivers, and the treatment at Taverns ſpoken of with the higheſt ſatisfaction.
